WAGENINGENUR
For quality of life

We take great pleasure in inviting post-graduate students (PhD/MSc) to participate in the 1st Postgraduate Symposium on Food Fraud hosted by Wageningen UR (University & Research centre) in Wageningen, the Netherlands, on June 23-24, 2016.

The symposium

This FREE postgraduate symposium on food fraud (including lunches and symposium dinner) is open to all postgraduate students across the full spectrum of food quality management, analytical chemistry, physics, criminology, marketing, consumer sciences, and economic sciences. Those who have completed a doctorate but not yet taken up a post are welcome too. This exciting event will be an excellent occasion to meet your peers and develop your network as a junior researcher in the area of food authenticity, fraud, and integrity.

Registration and abstracts

All attendees should register as soon as possible and no later than by Friday 10 June 2016. We encourage you to contribute to the symposium with an oral or poster presentation in order to maximize interaction. If you are interested in presenting work please submit a half-page abstract by 30 April 2016 in addition to registering (forms: see link below). Those selected to give oral presentations will be notified by 20 May 2016.

Submit registration forms and abstracts to: Prof.dr. Saskia van Ruth (saskia.vanruth@wur.nl)

Your presence at this symposium is important to us, we look forward to meeting you in Wageningen.

With kind regards,

On behalf of the organizers,
Saskia van Ruth
